BINGHAM ENDS TOUR OF CHINA

Hankow, China, June 28.—(P)—The old days of foreign imperialism, extra-territoriality and special privileges in China are gone forever. United States Senator Hiram Bingham, of Connecticut, told the Associated Press correspondent upon his arrival here today after completing a two months' tour of China.

He investigated conditions and interviewed the leaders of all the governments, both military and civil.

"The revolution is a fact," he said. "Armed intervention by the powers seeking a solution of the problems in China is utterly impossible. All the forces from which China is suffering are in the Chinese mind, due to foreign imperialism. This thought is widespread and permanent, and intervention can only increase it."

Senator Bingham declared that the time had arrived for a revision of unequal treaties, and the sooner the start was made, the better.

"We should open," he said, "by making the best terms possible. The longer we wait, the poorer the terms are likely to be. The government should send commissioners to every functioning government in China, seeking relations on virtual equality. These governments, Peking, Hankow and Nanking, and possibly Yen Hsi-shan, the model governor of the model province of Shansi, are all functioning, representing separate areas where we seek contact."

Senator Bingham is proceeding to Hong Kong, Manila and Canton. He will return to Peking in August and proceed home by way of Honolulu, where, as a member of the senate military affairs committee, he will inspect the island fortifications and military establishment.

LIEUT. GRACE READY FOR HOP-OFF TODAY

Lihue, Island of Kauai, T. H., June 28.—(United News.)—Richard Grace, California civilian aviator, intends hopping off for San Francisco early Wednesday, according to announcement late tonight.

After a test in which he flew his Crusair monoplane at 120 miles an hour in great circles above the famous naval base at Pearl Harbor, Grace hopped to Kauai, escorted by an air squadron under the direction of Commander M. B. McComb, his adviser and spokesman.

Apparently in perfect condition, the plane, lightly loaded, landed at 4:58 p. m. (7:28 p. m., Pacific time) on the Barking Sands field and immediately was placed under guard and prepared for the final take-off Wednesday. Gas supplies were ready a few feet away and Grace was in excellent spirits.

board from at 10:25 a. m. they were 300 miles off shore.

They had radioed the navy wireless headquarters here in the characteristic terse language of the service "All well."

Maitland and Hegenberger started in real army style, with click and precision. The flight had been in process of preparation for years, but the actual take-off was only a matter of minutes.

The lieutenants arrived at the Oakland flying field at 6:40 a. m., wearing their flying togs.

"I can't talk about the time we'll leave," said Maitland.

Thousands Watch.

Rope barricades were strung around his giant tri-motored Fokker plane—similar to that in which Commander Byrd hopes to span the Atlantic—as thousands of persons had crowded onto the field and were edging toward the machine, like small boys pressing their noses against the window of a candy store.

Hegenberger entered the cabin of the ship and began opening instrument boxes. Half an hour later, without ado, they were off. The plane was in the air in one minute after starting down the runway. No benefit of ceremony here. Maitland, just before climbing into the cockpit, had waved his helmet.

"Goodbye, boys," he said, and got into the machine. It was merely a gesture, thought the crowd, for the benefit of the cameramen who clicked their instruments. But the flight was on.

Some spectators believed they saw evidences of emotion welling up from these men's hearts. They said that Hegenberger had hid his face in his left arm; that Maitland had removed his goggles to brush away his tears.

Start of Smith.

The start of the "City of Oakland" as Smith's plane had been christened, did not have the army click.

Smith was on the field when the Fokker let the light pass under his huge body. Then he sped toward his own machine. It was fueled, rigged and more ready.

"Captain Charles Carter, his navigator, was there, beaming. Edmund J. Moffett, principal backer of the flight, was there, confident. According to Smith's calculations, his plane could travel 125 miles an hour, as against an average 100 for the heavier machine. And he was sure, when he took off at 9:38 that he would overtake Maitland and Hegenberger before the objective was reached.

But the windshield broke in two and, seven minutes later, the "City of Oakland" had landed again.

It was thought the plane would make another take-off. Feverish haste was made in repairing the windshield. It was repaired by 11:15 a. m. and the plane was refueled.

Smith Flight Off.

Smith had been resting in the tonneau of an automobile, away from the clamoring, insistent crowd. He reappeared at 11:30 and the crowd believed the race again was on.

There was a delay, inexplicable to the crowd. Then, at noon, Moffett announced the flight was off because the calculations of Carter were disrupted by the change of almost three hours in starting time. "Carter lacked confidence in the accuracy of his calculation," Moffett explained, but not in criticism.

A few minutes later Moffett said: "The flight will be resumed without delay if we can get another navigator. There is some discussion among the present personnel," he added, significantly, without going into detail on this subject.

This was to have been a three-cornered race, with one of the competitors hopping off from Hawaii, but Richard Grace, 26-year-old aviator, found a sheaf of troubles. His Ryan type monoplane, transported to Honolulu, had its propeller cracked.

He received a new propeller Tuesday and mechanics set to work, stalling it and expediting Grace's departure for the mainland. Grace expects to make his hop-off Wednesday. But the trans-Pacific flight has ceased to be a contest between men. It is man against nature now, for, regardless of how soon either Smith or Grace can start, they cannot possibly hope to overtake the olive drab army plane.

Great Crowd Gathers.

The scenes which had greeted the eyes of Lindbergh and Chamberlain and Levine as they prepared to dash to Paris and Berlin respectively, greeted the eyes of Maitland, Hegenberger, Smith and Carter.

Throughout the night hundreds gathered at the Oakland flying field to watch the take-off, although it had been made before daybreak. But the crowds continued to come, like those rabid fans who sleep outside a baseball park during the world's series in order to gain good positions in the ticket line the next day.

Maitland and Smith had retired early, having left instructions to be called shortly after midnight, that they could watch the final grooming of their planes.

Both of the planes had been tested Monday. The army ship was reported in excellent condition. Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the air service, conferred with Maitland and fixed this morning as the starting time. Immediately this announcement was made, Smith said he, too, would be off for Hawaii.

All Eyes on Army Ship.

All eyes here turned to Maitland and Hegenberger, now that they are off alone.

LOG OF PACIFIC HOP FOR HAWAII

(Pacific Time.)

June 28.—(7:00 a. m.)—Lieutenants Lester J. Maitland and Albert Hegenberger received final instructions from Major General Mason Patrick, chief of air-corporal.

7:00 a. m.—Maitland and Hegenberger start for Honolulu in army Fokker. Monoplane from Oakland municipal airport.

7:20 a. m.—Army airplane passes through Golden Gate, San Francisco.

9:38 a. m.—Ernest L. Smith, pilot, and Charles Carter, navigator, start for Honolulu in civilian airplane.

9:46 a. m.—Smith and Carter return with damaged air reflector.

10:00 a. m.—Army gives Smith new air deflector, which has been cut down to fit civilian plane.

10:25 a. m.—Army plane sighted three hundred miles off California coast by unidentified ship.

12:05 p. m.—Smith's backers postpone trip indefinitely when Navigator Carter argued against starting so late in the day.

2:45 p. m.—Army plane passed over steamer Sonoma, approximately 750 miles from California coast, flying 200 feet, above ship. Airplane was piloted near the ship.

Carries 1,040 Gallons of Gas.

The army plane weighs 13,900 pounds and carries 1,040 gallons of fuel. Its cruising radius is estimated at 3,000 miles. Its initial speed was about 85 miles an hour, but this was expected to increase to slightly more than 100 as the load became lighter. It was expected the flyers would reach Hawaii in 24 to 27 hours.

If for some reason the plane ran aground for two or three hours after which the pilots would depend upon an inflated raft. Sending and receiving radio sets are on board, and the plane has its complement of navigation instruments. The flyers, for food, have a bottle of hot soup, a bottle of hot chocolate, a supply of hardtack and five gallons of distilled water.

On both sides of the plane's tail, appears the inscription, "Atlantic C-2-P-465," and on both sides of the fuselage, "U. S. Army AC 26202."

Maitland entered the army air service in 1917, three days after declaration of war. He has been in the service constantly. Ten years ago, at the age of 19, he was instructor at Richfield, Waco, Texas. His wife and daughter, Patricia, live in Washington, D. C.

Hegenberger, the navigator, is 32. He was a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology at the outbreak of the war, and enlisted as a cadet. Later he served with a second lieutenant's commission at Ellington field, Houston, Texas. At McCook field, Dayton, Ohio, he aided in the development of numerous aerial navigational instruments, among them the indicator compass and the bank and drift indicator.

Hegenberger's wife and two children, Albert, 7, and Robert, 2, live in Boston.

HAWAII PREPARES TO WELCOME FLIERS.

Honolulu, June 28.—(P)—Wildly enthusiastic over the news that the army's giant Fokker plane bearing Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger was roaring its way over the Pacific to greet them, the military and civil populations of this island of Oahu prepared to turn out early tomorrow morning in a tremendous welcome to the fliers.

The time set for the celebration was between 2 a. m. and 8 a. m. Wednesday morning. Honolulu time follows two and one-half hours after Pacific coast time.

Not doubting the success of the flight, the army today invited the public to witness its finish at Wheeler field, Schofield barracks, and thousands were expected to drive the 25 miles from this city to the barracks before dawn.

Pacific Flyer's Wife Cries Then Says "He'll Do It"

RECOVERS HER COMPOSURE

Boston, June 28.—(P)—Mrs. Louise Hegenberger gave a little gasp today as she heard over the radio the word that the army plane bearing her husband out over the Pacific had hopped off. She listened to further details and then she cried a little.

But she quickly recovered her composure and turning to her mother asked: "Did he say that Smith had started, too?"

Earlier in the day she had expressed confidence in the success of the flight.

"It has always been Albert's wish to accomplish something like this," she said. "It is because of that wish that I feel that he will do it."

Only a short distance from the heart of Boston, Mrs. Hegenberger was remote from communications save by radio. She was in the old house on Castle island, in Boston harbor, where her mother, Mrs. Helen Lindberg, is keeper of the Castle Rock for signal. It is the only wedding ever to take place on the island she was married to Lieutenant Hegenberger in 1919.

With her today also were her two children, Albert Carl, 7, and Robert Francis, 3, and her stepfather, John E. Lindberg, on leave from his position as engineer on the Nantucket lightship. Both she and her husband are natives of Boston. Lieutenant Hegenberger attended the public schools here and took a course in aeronautical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

A little while before she heard the news of the plane's departure Mrs. Hegenberger had received a telegram of greeting from her husband.

There is a home job to do and prudence and patriotism alike urge us to the task.

"Waste Must Stop."

Senator Borah asserted that the greatest domestic problem since the civil war was what should the government do and how it should exercise its purpose in putting an end to the waste of natural resources—oil, coal, timber and water power.

"Public interest demands that this waste should cease," he said.

"Justice to the people demands that unjust prices and exploitation shall be prevented. Common sense and the most ordinary tenets of humanity insist that our rivers shall no longer be a menace to millions of our countrymen."

"Making our rivers both safe and serviceable is not local but general, not sectional but national, not politics but business. There are some signs that the old-time piecemeal, procrastinating political method is again contemplated. Nothing could be more unfortunate nor in the end more expensive. Expense, and great expense, may be the part of true economy. In the face of great tasks, parsimony becomes extravagance, timidity a crime."

Mrs. Maitland Certain Husband Will Reach Goal

Washington, June 28.—(United News.)—Here awaiting reports of the Hawaiian flight is a dark-eyed, vivacious young woman, who is confident that Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger will land in Hawaii. She is Mrs. Lester J. Maitland, wife of the young army flier.

"I am not the least bit nervous," Mrs. Maitland insisted, "and I feel positive Lester will be at his goal by tomorrow morning."

The flier's wife came here today and will remain at the home of her father, Dr. William A. White, noted psychiatrist and superintendent of St. Elizabeth's Hospital for the Insane.

As soon as word is received of Maitland's plans after arrival in Hawaii his wife will leave for the west coast to greet him upon his return to this country.

Their little daughter, Patricia, 3-1/2, was put to bed at her usual hour tonight. She has not been told that her daddy is making one of the historic flights of the world. Her mother didn't want her to lose a night's sleep from excitement. All she knew when she was tucked into bed tonight was that her daddy was flying but she is used to hearing that.

CANDLER FIELD HANGAR BIDS WILL OPEN TODAY

Bids for the erection of a wooden hangar at Candler air field, to house air mail planes, will be opened at 9 o'clock this morning at the Biltmore hotel by H. A. Elliott, representative of the Pittman Aviation company, of Philadelphia, holders of the New York-Atlanta air mail contract.

The hangar is to be 60 by 100 feet in area, and constructed of wood in a substantial design. Plans for the lighting of Candler field and for the placing of an air mail route beacon on top of Stone Mountain are said to be going forward rapidly, while workmen are actively engaged in grading the flying field for the air mail flyers.

RUSSIAN COMPOSER VISITOR IN CITY

ment, stopped over in Atlanta Tuesday at the Ansley hotel, on his way to New York from Miami, where he has completed a successful season.

When he goes to New York, within the next few days, Mr. Aleshia expects to publish several of his own compositions, which have been favorably received in Miami.

GOVERNMENT TAX RECEIPTS $100,000 UNDER 1926 MARK

Income tax collections for the fiscal year of 1927, ending on Thursday, are approximately $100,000 under the collections in Georgia for the previous fiscal year, it was revealed Tuesday at the federal building, although the exact figures will not be available until Thursday.

Decrease in the Georgia collections during the fiscal year now closing is traceable to certain deductions and cuts made in the returns by congress, which went into effect during the year, it was said.

Figures for the calendar year of 1926, or collections during that year, showed a substantial increase over 1925 collections, amounting to more than a million dollars. The collections

MORRIS' MANDAMUS ACTION DISMISSED

Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, Tuesday sustained a demurrer filed in behalf of the Atlanta board of education in answer to mandamus proceedings brought by Dr. E. Fred Morris seeking to enforce his reinstatement upon the board, and dismissed the proceedings.

Judge Pomeroy held that the board of education was powerless to reinstate Dr. Morris and that the proceedings should have been brought against city council, as the municipal body was entirely responsible for his ousting.

The demurrer brought by James L. Mayson and Courtland S. Winn, city attorneys, also set out that the title to public office cannot be tried by writ of mandamus.

In Dr. Morris' petition he claimed that he was a resident of the first ward and that his residence in Forest Park, cited by the defense in support of the action in ousting him as a member of the board, was temporary only.

LIVES 3 WEEKS WITH BROKEN NECK, THEN DIES

Macon, Ga., June 28.—(AP)—John H. Gabbert, 20, of Gordon, Ga., who more than three weeks ago dived into a pond of shallow water and suffered a broken neck, died here this morning after a stubborn fight for life.

W. B. Gabbert, of Birmingham, Ala., his father, who has kept vigil at his bedside since shortly after he was placed in the local hospital, was present when the end came.

"Doctors said he would die but I put my faith against their opinions," said the aged man.

The body will be carried to Jasper, Ala., for funeral and interment.

HARRIS COMMANDS NORTH GEORGIA U. C. V. BRIGADE

W. D. Harris has been promoted to the rank of general in command of the northern brigade of the Georgia division of United Confederate Veterans, it was announced Tuesday by General David B. Freeman, new commander of the Georgia division.

Other appointments announced Tuesday were: General commanding cavalry brigade, E. R. Hamilton, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of M. H. Mulligan, Alexander C. Smith, adjutant general and chief of staff of Georgia division, to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Bridges Smith.

RICHARDSON TAKES VETERINARY OFFICE

Dr. A. G. Richardson, who was appointed Monday by Commissioner of Agriculture Eugene Talmadge to take the place of Dr. Peter F. Bahnsen, state veterinarian, who resigned the same day, arrived at his office in the capitol Tuesday and announced he is ready to assume his new duties.

Dr. Richardson is acting as temporary veterinarian, as the state veterinary board must meet and recommend to the commissioner of agriculture a permanent occupant for the office. This will be done at an early date.

The acting veterinarian began the veterinary department at the state agricultural college 18 years ago. Later he left for a position at a western college and then returned to the Georgia college a few years ago. He is now on leave from the college at Athens to assume his new role.

NEGRO TO FACE JURY FOR MURDER TODAY

Jim Grant, negro, charged with the murder of J. L. Ferguson, aged night watchman at the Buick Motor company plant on Spring street, is slated to face a jury in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court today.

The negro was jointly indicted for the crime with Charlie Hicks, another negro, convicted last week in superior court and sentenced to die in the electric chair on July 29.

The body of the night watchman was found in the elevator shaft in the plant by an employee of the company and, according to alleged confessions of the two negroes, was beaten to death with an automobile spring and a hammer and then thrown down the shaft.

JENKINS SPEAKS BEFORE TEN CLUB

Judge William F. Jenkins was the principal speaker at an entertainment of the Ten club, held Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the Biltmore hotel. Judge Jenkins read a paper in which he expressed his reasons for believing that Shakespearean works are "authentic" in the sense that they are really the products of the Bard of Avon's pen.

Other guests present in addition to the regular membership were: Judge Price Gilbert, Dr. L. R. Christie, R. A. Kline and James A. Holloman. The entertainment program was in the hands of James B. Nevin.

Negro Injured.

Dizile Palmer, negro, 401 Howell street, was struck down and injured by an automobile driven by John Ware, another negro, of 284 Auburn avenue, at Fort street and Auburn avenue Monday night, according to hospital reports. Ware stopped his car and took the injured negro to the hospital. No case has been made.

BLACK COMMENTS STATE BANK LAWS

"You can't legislate morals or honesty into people," said Eugene H. Black, president of the Atlanta Trust company in his address, "The Banking Situation in Georgia," before the Atlanta Rotary club at its weekly luncheon held at noon Tuesday at the Atlanta Athletic club.

This declaration was brought out during his discussion of proposed changes in the Georgia banking laws that will be considered at the present session of the legislature. In speaking of the present banking laws in Georgia, Mr. Black stated that there was no state in the United States that had better banking laws than Georgia.

George Harris, president of the Exposition cotton mills, followed Mr. Black, speaking on the cotton industry now and during the last few years.

Showing how the south was going forward in the cotton mill industry, Mr. Harris stated that during May the total number of spindle hours of operation in cotton mills of the south doubled that of the north and that during that time practically 100 per cent of the southern spindles were in operation as compared to about 65 per cent in the north.

Higher wages and increased country and state taxes were chief reasons why so many southern mills were moving to the south, according to Mr. Harris. Citing an example of a 100,000 spindle mill at New Bedford, Mass., the speaker stated that wages paid out in this mill were four cents per pound of production over those paid in competing mills in the south. County and state taxes are about double in the east to what they are in Georgia mill and would be even greater if the Georgia mill was located in the country, according to the speaker.

Touching on the banking situation, Mr. Black pointed out that a period of financial distress had existed in the state for the past five years and that Atlanta being closely allied with the agricultural portion of the state it was but natural that a part of this distress should visit this city and that for the past two years Atlanta had felt its effects.

As showing the confidence the people have in their banking institutions, Mr. Black called attention to the fact that when 90 banks of a certain chain failed a few months ago, not another institution, outside of that chain, failed during the period. The situation the speaker considered remarkable considering the fact that when one bank fails it is but natural for depositors in other banks near it to become frightened.

While believing that the banking laws of this state were as good as any in the country, Mr. Black said there are a few improvements that could be made. Chief among those he advocated would be an increase in the pay of the state superintendent of banks, abolition of all private banks operating without a charter, close supervision of the manner in which the word "trust" was used when connected with the name of a banking institution, and the appointment of a banking commission consisting of at least four bankers of the state to meet and confer regularly with the superintendent of banks.

Such changes as these would be beneficial in the opinion of the speaker, while any attempt to legislate that banks must put up a bond to insure their depositors, or jump a certain sum to take care of a bank that fails would work a great hardship on the banking institutions.

CUTCLIFFE HEARING SLATED FOR TODAY

Hearing on habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of Walter Cutcliffe, alleged bootlegger, is scheduled this morning in Fulton superior court. The petitioner is being held in custody by Sheriff James L. Lowry on an order signed Monday by Judge E. D. Thomas which declared null and void an executive clemency order signed by former Governor Clifford Walker.

The proceedings were brought Tuesday afternoon by Paul E. Lindsay, Cutcliffe's attorney, and set out that he was being illegally detained in Fulton tower after having been granted a pardon by Georgia's chief executive, Solicitor General John A. Boykin said Tuesday that he would fight the issue on the grounds that the governor's pardon was obtained while Cutcliffe was still under charges in criminal courts.

ENDS GANG TERM, IS SENT TO JAIL

Henry Mize, 28, who has just completed a chain gang sentence of six months, Tuesday morning began a 12-day jail sentence on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct, following his arrest Monday.

Mize was fined $10 in police court Monday afternoon, but not having any money after having spent the last six months within the clutches of the law, took the alternative 12 days in jail.

TEMPERATURE RISE PREDICTED TODAY BY VON HERRMANN

Another clear day, similar to that of Tuesday but accompanied by much higher temperatures Wednesday, by C. F. von Herrmann in place of the continued "unsettled weather" which has been the prediction during the past week.

Practically all of the day will be clear and hot and the temperature probably will range between 70 and 88 degrees, the weather bureau stated. The temperatures Tuesday ranged from 68 as the low mark to 85 during the early hours of the afternoon for a maximum.

There is no rain in sight and clear warm weather should prevail for the next several days, the weather bureau stated.

What should a girl pay for a dentifrice?

What's your opinion? We think that 25c is ample, provided the dentifrice is scientifically correct for all types of teeth.

With this idea in mind, we created Listerine Tooth Paste at 25c for a large tube. Now it is sweeping the country. Everywhere it is supplanting old and costlier favorites. Because it saves the average person $3 per year.

Last year it saved $30,000 for 10,000 stenographers. $42,000 for 14,000 factory workers. And where there were several in a family the savings were tremendous.

OWNER HELD; OTHERS SOUGHT FOR ARSON

Additional arrests are expected momentarily in connection with two recent fires in the house owned by W. B. Stringfellow, who was taken in custody Monday by county police on a charge of arson, according to the officers who are investigating.

Stringfellow was arrested by Lieutenant Frank Jordan, of the Fulton county police force, who filed a report at the headquarters of the department that a fire in the attic of the home, located at 440 Jonesboro road, was extinguished by residents on June 18 and a second fire, starting under the house June 25, had been extinguished by the Atlanta fire department.

On the first occasion, Lieutenant Jordan said, Stringfellow had been working in the attic a short while before the fire began, and on the second occasion he had been working about the house just before the blaze was discovered.

Oil-soaked rags and a bottle of kerosene were found in the attic and rags were discovered under the house. Insurance amounting to $5,500 on the house would have expired Monday noon, according to the officer's report.

WEALTHY COTTON MAN SUCCUMBS IN LEXINGTON, VA.

Charlotte, N. C., June 28.—(AP)—L. W. Sanders, of Charlotte, an outstanding figure in the cotton business in the south, died early today at Lexington, Va., according to messages received here. He was 84 years old and death was due to injuries received in a fall in a Lexington hotel on May 2.

Mr. Sanders stopped at Lexington while returning from the National Cotton Manufacturers' association meeting in Atlantic City. He fell in the hotel, sustaining severe injuries that he could not be brought to his home.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made. Both H. L. Sanders, his son and Mrs. S. O. Brooks, daughter, being in Lexington. The body will be brought here this afternoon.

K. OF C. WELFARE CHIEF A VISITOR

Colonel M. J. O'Leary, director of the southeastern department of educational and welfare activities of the Knights of Columbus, passed through Atlanta Tuesday night on his way to his home in Savannah after touring the Mississippi flood area for his organization. Colonel O'Leary said that the Knights of Columbus' educational and welfare department cooperated with the Red Cross in relieving the suffering of the flood victims and that he was highly pleased with the results accomplished by members of the Knights of Columbus in the relief work.

Power Company Names Two New Vice-Presidents

CHARLES A. COLLIER

FRANK E. SHUMATE

Two new vice presidents, Charles A. Collier and Frank E. Shumate, have been added to the list of officials of the Georgia Power company, it was announced Tuesday following a meeting of the board of directors.

Mr. Collier, general sales manager of the company, was named vice president in charge of commercial activities and Mr. Shumate, general attorney, was named vice president in charge of the legal department.

Both Mr. Collier and Mr. Shumate have been connected with the Georgia Power company for many years. Mr. Shumate became associated with the company several years ago, leaving an important position with the Southern railway to accept the position of general attorney for the Georgia Railway and Power company which post he has held ever since.

Began as Salesman.

Mr. Collier began his career as a salesman, and in his rise has held practically every position in the sales department of the company.

Besides Mr. Shumate and Mr. Collier, other vice presidents of the company are: V. E. Mitchell, general manager; F. L. Butler, general operating manager; Charles G. Adair and G. W. Brine, of Atlanta; C. D. Flanagan, of Athens, and F. P. Cummings, of New York city.

Mr. Collier, a native Atlantan, first became employed by the company in March, 1906, after attending Georgia Tech. His first position was that of inspecting wires and motors, and managing small power sales. From that position he rose in the sales department. In February, 1922, he was appointed general sales manager of the entire company.

Highly specialized in the sale of hydro-electric power, Mr. Collier has been instrumental during the past few years in having large manufacturing companies change from steam generated to hydro power and in bringing new industries to the state.

Following the formation of the Georgia Power company Mr. Collier was given general supervision over all wholesale and retail sales of power, as well as the electric and gas appliances sold by the company.

He is considered a leading authority on electrical power and has taken an active part in the work of the National Electric Light association, and at a recent meeting of the southeastern division of this association, he was named its first vice president.

Son of Ex-Mayor.

Mr. Collier is the son of the late C. A. Collier, former mayor of Atlanta, and one of the city's leading citizens. He is prominent in Atlanta's business, fraternal and social life, a member of the Capital City and the Atlanta Athletic clubs, as well as other organizations in the city.

Mr. Shumate was born in Dalton, Ga., and studied law in the office of his father, the late J. E. Shumate, one of the most prominent lawyers in north Georgia.

Following his admission to the bar, Mr. Shumate was associated with Sam P. Maddox and the late Julian McCamy, with offices in Dalton. While associated with this firm Mr. Shumate represented the Southern railway in the capacity of assistant division counsel.

Came Here in 1912.

Mr. Shumate was called to Atlanta by the Southern railway in 1912 and assumed an important position with the legal department of that company, being associated with Messrs. McDaniel and Black, as division counsel for that company.

Seven years later he left that post to accept the position of general attorney of the Georgia Railway and Power company and subsidiary companies and retired from active practice of law, his duties with the company being mainly executive, and, as such, requiring all of his attention.

Mr. Shumate is a member of the Capital City and the Atlanta Athletic clubs, executive vice president of the Atlanta Safety council, a director of the Empire Trust company and a director of the Georgia association. He has taken active part in many civic enterprises. He served as colonel on the staff of both Governors Dorsey and Walker and is one of the best known and most popular men in Georgia.

VETERANS GREET COMMANDER TATE

Honored by his comrades through his election to national commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War at the convention last week in El Paso, Texas, William E. Tate returned Tuesday night to Atlanta and an enthusiastic welcome by his buddies.

Led by E. H. Winchester, state commander of the D. A. V., and Howard H. Glenn, commander of the Atlanta chapter, a large welcoming party composed of Mayor Ragsdale, Asa Warren Candler, state commander of the American Legion, Basil Stockbridge, Colonel H. B. Saunders and Major J. G. C. Bloodworth, past state commanders of the legion; Frank Kempton, local legion commander; John Hanson, past state commander of the United Spanish War Veterans, and other members of those organizations met Commander Tate at the Terminal station.

Commander Tate, who, as a member of the thirtieth division in the world war, was wounded in action, was liaison officer of the D. A. V. before his promotion to national commander, and after spending a week in Atlanta to wind up the affairs of the division, will go to Cincinnati, Ohio, to the national headquarters of the organization.

J. K. Finch, national executive committee member of the fifth district of the D. A. V., who acted as Tate's campaign manager, and Ralph Hair, past junior vice commander of the national organization, returned to Atlanta with Commander Tate.

The convention, before closing its session in El Paso Saturday, voted to hold the 1928 meeting in Denver, Colo.

DAVISON-PAXON DISPLAY SHOWS RAYON PROCESS

Attracting widespread attention on the part of shoppers in the business district, the Peachtree street window display of the Davison-Paxon company demonstrating the manufacture of rayon is one of the most interesting of its kind seen here in many years.

Arranged by E. Munn, display manager, the window shows every step in the production of rayon, from the crude material of spruce wood to the finished product in the form of gorgeous undergarments and piece goods.

The various steps of the manufacturing process are numbered, beginning with the spruce wood blocks; their reduction first to powder and then to liquid form; spinning of the rough yarn; the refining and lustering process that gives it life and beauty, and the final woven goods into which the fiber is made.

The rayon shown is manufactured by A. V. Morris & Sons, The Roland Spain company, of New York, is sole distributor for the product, which is sold exclusively in Atlanta by the Davison-Paxon company, affiliated with R. M. Macy & Co.

MANSLAUGHTER PLEA DRAWS TERM ON GANG

Charles Freeman, negro, charged with the murder on May 8 of Ed Martin, another negro, entered a plea of guilty to voluntary manslaughter Tuesday before Judge Virgil E. Moore, in Fulton superior court, and was sentenced to serve from two to five years on the chain gang.

The Freeman case is the third murder case that has been disposed of in superior court this week.

PLANS DISCUSSED FOR HAM CAMPAIGN

Plans for Atlanta's participation in a national sales campaign of ham and bacon during the months of July and August were discussed Tuesday night at the chamber of commerce by a meeting of several hundred local retail meat dealers and packers.

E. S. Papp, of the White Provision company, city chairman of the campaign, acted as chairman and introduced speakers, chief of whom was Florence McDowell, manager of the Swift Packing company plant at Moultrie. Mr. McDowell explained the purpose of the campaign, which is sponsored through a great national advertising drive of the American Institute of Meat Packers. He pledged wholehearted cooperation of the packers in creating a greater demand for ham and bacon during the hot summer months by suggesting kitchen labor-saving for housewives and new and toothsome uses to which ham and bacon may be put. He appealed to retailers for their aid and active participation.

Support of the campaign by The Constitution, which will carry the advertising of the movement exclusively in this city, was proffered by A. D. Grant and Loyd A. Wilhoit.

Frederick J. Kamper, president of the Kamper Grocery company, discussed the campaign from the viewpoint of the retailer. He strongly urged that the selling appeal be based upon a created increase in demand for ham and bacon by suggestions of household use and recommended the movement to meat dealers everywhere.

Mr. Papp introduced to the meat dealers and packers Lorenz Neuhoff, who has recently removed from Nashville to Atlanta in order to take charge of the newly organized White Provision company, Inc.

Mrs. Kontz's Mother Honored on Eightieth Birthday at Lakemont

Lakemont, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. J. P. Thornton, of Lakemont, Ga., mother of Mrs. E. C. Kontz, wife of Judge Ernest C. Kontz, prominent Atlanta attorney, celebrated her eightieth birthday Monday at the summer home of Judge and Mrs. Kontz at Lakemont with members of her family.

Mrs. Thornton arrived here only a few days ago and will spend the remainder of the summer with Mrs. Kontz.

An elaborate birthday dinner was served Monday night and many of the Lakemont residents were present and

TERMS IN PRISON STUN DEFENDANTS IN KERRICK DEATH

Los Angeles, June 28.—(AP)—Five men and women, four of them members of the movie colony here, today were denied probation on their conviction of manslaughter in connection with the death of Tom Kerrick, film cowboy, last April during a wild liquor party.

Judge Carlos Hardy, despite approval by the state's attorney of their plea for probation, decided they must serve their terms of 1 to 10 years in San Quentin.

Those sentenced were Kerrick's widow, Mrs. Sarah Kerrick; Iris Burns, Anita Davis, Henry Isbell and Joe Hunt. All but Hunt were small-part players in motion pictures. He came here from Arizona to visit Kerrick and financed the "moonshine" orgy at which the actor was shot. Testimony showed that Hunt was in a drunken sleep most of the night and knew nothing of the shooting.

Sunday School Picnic.

Annual picnic and outing of the Morningside Presbyterian Sunday school was held last Saturday afternoon near Lithia Springs. A feature of the picnic was a baseball game between the elder and young members of the Sunday school.

enjoyed hearing Mrs. Thornton speak of her younger days.

In addition to members of her daughter's family, there were her two sons, J. T. Thornton, of LaGrange, with whom she has made her home for several years, and Steve W. Thornton, of Milledgeville, Ga., and their families were present at the birthday dinner.

HOT WEATHER DRIES OUT YOUR KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BOWELS

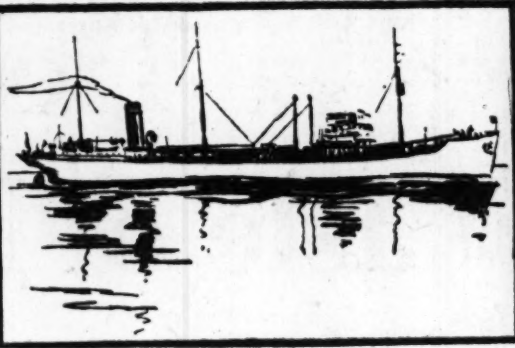

Perspiration carries off body moisture and the liver and bowels become dry and constipated. Then—blisters, rashes, sour stomach; the heat makes you drowsy and lazy, and your skin breaks out with pimples and boils.

Don't take calomel. That's wrong—calomel is mercury—a dangerous drug. It jars the liver and cleanses the bowels, that's true. But the damage it does to them, you! It crashes into your system like a charge of dynamite and makes it numb. It stifles the muscles of the stomach and bowels, takes you a day to recuperate and no telling how long for your bowels.

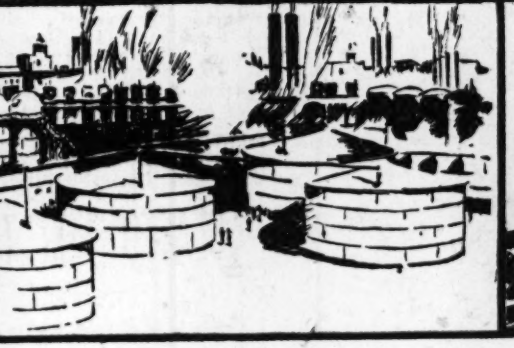

All you need is Dodson's Liver Tonic. Take a spoonful at night and you wake up feeling great. It doesn't upset you, but cleans you out good. You don't lose a day from your work and you can eat anything you want. Get the big bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic from your nearest store. They all have it. Keep it in the house so you will have it handy to take nights before going to bed.—(adv.)

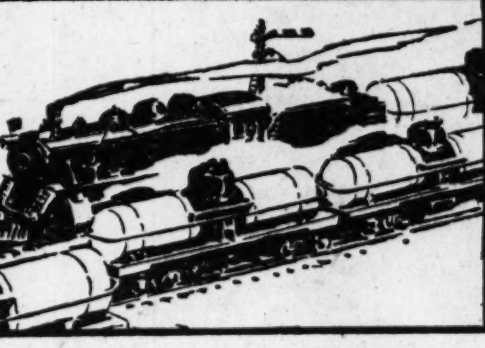

Three great oil fields controlled by Pan-Am assure the South of a permanent supply of gasoline

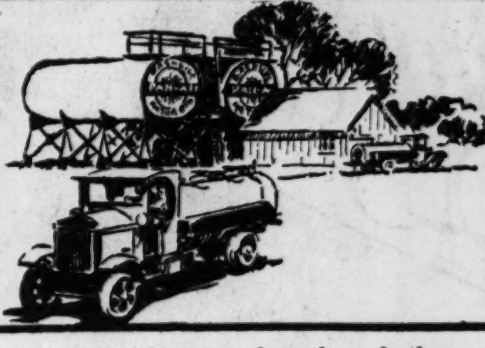

This oil is brought to our refineries in Pan-Am ships—one of the largest fleets of oil tankers in the world

It is refined in our own refineries, insuring never-varying quality in Pan-Am products

Pan-Am's own modern tank cars distribute this better gasoline to convenient railroad points throughout the South

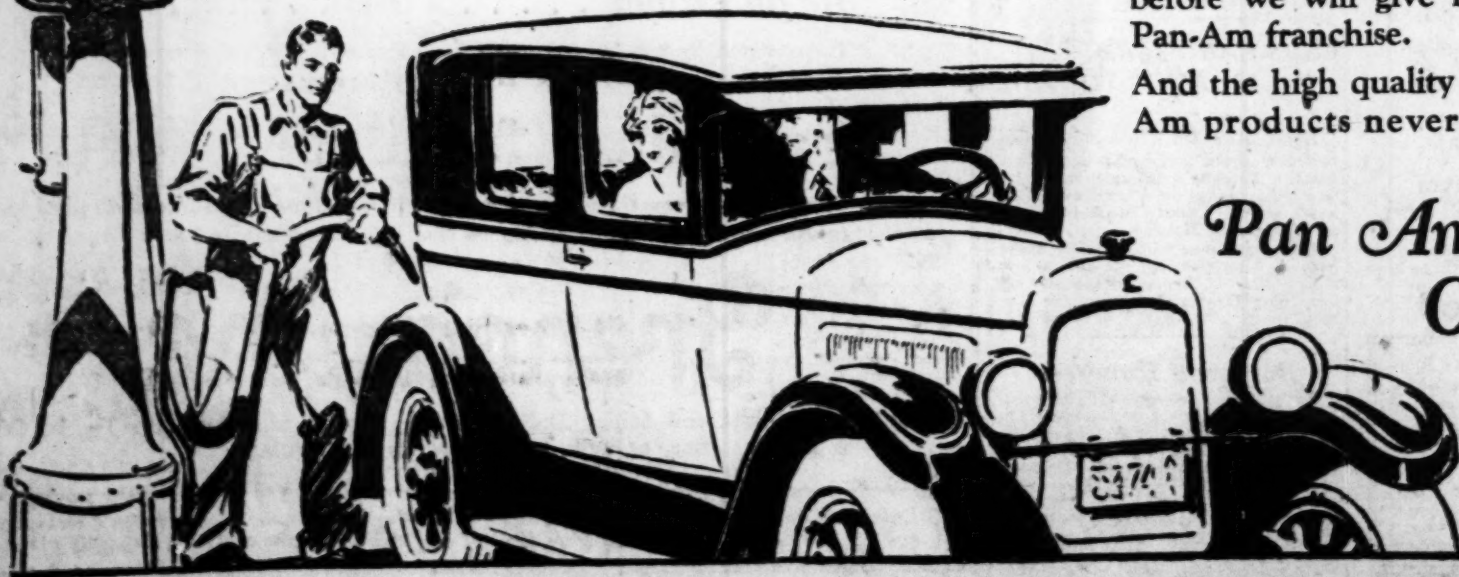

450 bulk oil stations have been built to assure every dealer of a constant supply of Pan-Am products

You can be sure of honest service at any Pan-Am pump!

THERE are more than 4,000 dependable and conveniently located Pan-Am pump stations ready to serve Southern motorists

ON strange roads, as well as at home, you can depend on the dealer who sells Pan-Am products.

When you say "five gallons," you'll get five full gallons—for every Pan-Am dealer is proved to be an honest business man before we will give him the Pan-Am franchise.

And the high quality of Pan-Am products never varies.

Pan-Am clean gasoline and tougher motor oil are produced and marketed by one organization—whose aim is to give Southern motorists a reliable supply of the best petroleum products that can be made.

Thousands have found that Pan-Am clean gasoline, for instance, forms less carbon and gives more mileage, greater power.

The Pan-Am sign endorses that dealer's business practice. It says: "Here is a good place to trade!"

SPOTLIGHTING THE SOLONS

BY SAM W. SMALL.

Some of the Interesting Measures Which Will Enliven the Session.

The solons are expressing commendable anxiety to get "right down to business" and promptly do something or do nothing as the particular case may require. It is a praiseworthy spirit, provided it does not peter out as the mercury mounts and the two chambers become like the hot rooms of a Turkish bath.

This idea of jumping to the job always prevails at the outset of a session, especially with the new members. They come to the capital with the solemn impression that the state is in great peril, society shaking to disintegration, and that "each and every one" of them, to use a Methodist exhorter's term, was sent especially to save the commonwealth. Consequently they introduce many urgent bills to increase the salary of the clerk of the county commissioners of this and that county, to relieve from bond payment a constituent who trespassed unwisely to the appearance of a disappearing bootlegger, or to change the dates between which fish may be taken with a seine in Bilgewater's mill pond. When these go to the proper committees the skins clear, the earth feels, stable once more, and the old hands go right along steering the ship of state through the usual channels.

It happened that I yesterday took too broad a view of Senator Myrick's state police bill. I thought it comprehended a state constabulary system to aid in the enforcement of all the laws, but it turns out to be for the creation of a perambulating patrol by the highway board to look after big crimes and misdemeanors likely to impair our nonpareil public roads. Which is a "gray horse of another color." Yet it is greatly to be hoped that Senator Myrick will either enlarge his bill, or introduce another, to establish a real state constabulary similar to that of Pennsylvania, or the Northwest Mounted Police in Canada, which latter is the model police force of the world. Georgia badly needs just such an independent and unbreakable law enforcement agency.

One of the best compliments to Atlanta in recent years is cordily enveloped in the bill sponsored by the Lowndes delegation to reamend the amendment to amend the amendment that set up the biennial sessions and go back to annual sessions of 40 days each—the proper duration for any sort of sanctified flood. That means, in fact, that Atlanta has so many and fascinating attractions for those charged with the solicitation and salvation of the state that they "set ought not to be deprived of their enjoyment in any year."

But from sotto voce comments coming to my ears there is not much chance for so sudden a change back to the annual sessions. The idea grows that the fewer the sessions the better for the state.

Bills have been introduced by Senator Myrick and by Representative Pellagra to make inadmissible in any court any evidence procured by an illegal search or seizure, or obtained in violation of the provisions of the constitution. It is not generally known that the law does not now so provide. The constitution was framed to prevent the evil of making any man supply evidence against himself through the means of illegal arrest, search and seizure, but it seems that our courts have held differently.

If an express act is needed to protect a citizen from evidence he is forced to disclose by search and seizure under an illegal arrest, one or the other of the bills above mentioned should be enacted. Under United States law any man so protected. Efforts will be made in the present session to tighten up the laws against pistol-toting. They should succeed. Crimes are being committed almost daily in Georgia by men packing concealed revolvers and automatic pistols. Not only should pistols be declared contraband when carried contrary to law, as proposed by Representative Hampter, of Habersham, but the man caught thus offending should be sent to the chain gang for not less than three months, without right to jury or judge to assess a fine or suspend the sentence. Make the chain gang the automatic penalty and thousands of hip-pockets will be instantly unladen in this state. The unlawfully worn pistol is chief crime-breeder in the community.

The proposed bill to repeal the act authorizing corporations to issue non par stock will probably stir up lively opposition. Non par stock is a device of rather modern invention and that sort of stock has become a favorite vehicle for distributing profits above the usual rates. In other words it is a good pipe line by which to "water" the capital. Of the 4,737 corporations in Georgia that filed capital stock tax returns with Uncle Sam last year, only 29 claimed non par stock and their stock estimated by the internal revenue bureau at "fair value" amounted to $5,106,863, as against $588,266,954 for the common and preferred of the other corporations.

GIRLS ARE KEEN ON FOOD FACTS. HEINZ CO. FINDS

Girls may be trimming their locks and skirts and invading domains that are new to them, but they are still sufficiently old-fashioned to be keenly interested in the preparation of food and other household duties. This has been learned by H. J. Heinz company through the opening of its home economics department at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

When the company established this new department a few months ago it anticipated the interest of housewives and club women, especially organizations that center their attention upon home economics, but large numbers of girls have been attending lectures and witnessing practical demonstrations in a model kitchen. The lectures are attracting city and rural girls alike, and parties are traveling long distances to hear talks on home economics.

The Heinz company opened this department for the purpose of providing a service for women and placed in charge Miss Josephine B. Gibson, a graduate of Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Church Conference.

The third quarterly conference of the West Atlanta district was held at Cosmopolitan A. M. E. church from June 24 to 26. The Rev. A. D. Hardman is pastor. This was one of the best quarters for this conference year. All rep. is showed improvement throughout the church financial and spiritual.

Dr. J. E. McCain, P. E., preached two excellent sermons on Sunday.

ADDRESS ATTACK UPON IGNORANCE

Athens, Ga., June 28.—(P)—Dr. Young B. Smith, professor of law at Columbia university, called attention in a letter made public here today that he was misquoted in dispatches attributing to him a statement that a democratic form of government is a "delusion and a snare" due to the "assumed inability of the mass mind to form rational judgments," in an address he delivered here June 15.

Declaring that he stated this neither as a fact nor as his opinion, he quoted the correct passage as follows: "If one will trace the history of political thought during the last 2,000 years, one will find at all stages the existence of a considerable opinion on the part of intelligent people that democratic government is a delusion and a snare and, in all frankness, it must be admitted that this opinion is not without evidence to support it."

In support of these remarks, he pointed out that in recent years both Russia and Italy, notwithstanding the experience of the English, French and American revolutions, have adopted some form of dictatorship in preference to a representative democracy, and quoted from Plato's Republic and Protagoras certain passages to show that even in Greece, where democracy was born, there was opposition to it on the part of the great thinkers and philosophers of the age.

Writing from Chapel Hill, N. C., he continued: "Surely the concession that the views of one's opponents are not reasonable and absurd is not an admission that they are right. But if this statement taken alone raised any doubt as to my opinion, certainly the remainder of the address makes it perfectly clear that I was not endorsing this opinion but was pointing out that it was the duty of all peoples who cherish the hope of a better world under democratic rule to aid in the fight to eradicate ignorance and prejudice, which are democracy's greatest foes. The address was an attack upon ignorance and prejudice, not upon democracy."

SOUTHERN INSTITUTE OF POLITICS OPENED

Athens, Ga., June 28.—(P)—The Southern Institute of Politics, a new activity of the University of Georgia summer school, was formally opened here tonight with an address by Dr. J. W. Garner, professor of political science in the University of Illinois.

Introduced by Charles M. Snellings, chancellor of the university, Dr. Garner devoted himself to a discussion of the foreign policy of the United States. He prefaced his address with quotations from outstanding republicans and democrats to the effect that the country is without a foreign policy.

A tendency to isolation brought about by fear and distrust has prevented the United States from cooperating with European nations, Dr. Garner said. Other factors he mentioned as influencing the country's foreign policy were a feeling of moral superiority, the foreign element in the country and the supremacy of the states since the war.

Scoring the attitude of "my country right or wrong," Dr. Garner asserted "The United States is longer a defenseless outcast in a world of monarchies, and there is no reason why we cannot cooperate with other nations."

Other speakers who are to appear before the institute are Dr. Edwin S. Corwin, professor of politics, Princeton university; Joseph P. Danneberg, publisher of the Raleigh, N. C. News and Observer, and secretary of the navy under President Wilson; Dr. Robert E. Cushman, head of the political science department, Cornell university; Dr. E. C. Branson, of the rural economics department, University of North Carolina; Adamantios Polyzoides, editor of Atlantic, Congressman J. J. McSwain, of South Carolina; Charles Pergler, of Czechoslovakia; Dr. J. H. T. McPherson, professor of political science, University of Georgia; President Andrew M. Soule, Georgia College of Agriculture, and Mrs. Henry T. Baldwin, league of women voters, Washington, D. C.

MISS WILLIAMSON GIVES LUNCHEON TO NEWSPAPERMEN

Miss Ethylene Clair Williamson, Atlanta beauty, who is regarded as one of Universal's most promising movie stars and who is in the city incident to the opening of the new Capitol theater, was hostess Tuesday to members of the local press at a luncheon at the Ansley hotel.

Assisting the hostess in entertaining were Mrs. Willard Patterson, of the Weekly Film Review, and Earle Griggs, southern publicity representative of the Universal Pictures corporation. Among honor guests in addition to newspapermen were Mrs. Norman Sharp, past president of the Atlanta Woman's club and assistant director of the state bureau of markets; Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, president of the Woman's club; Mrs. Newton C. Wing, of the better films committee; Mr. Williamson, father of the Atlanta star, and others.

Following the luncheon Miss Williamson was feted by several women's organizations at the Ansley. Later she made brief talks at the Fairfax theater in East Point and the Ponce de Leon Avenue theater, Universal playhouses.

MANY GAINESVILLE CASES POSTPONED UNTIL NOVEMBER

Numerous cases set for the two weeks beginning next Tuesday in United States district court at Gainesville, have been reassigned to the November session of court in that city because of the fact that attorneys for the defendants are prevented from attending court by reason of the session of the legislature, of which they are members.

More than 150 cases had been set for court in Gainesville, but this number will be reduced considerably or the reassigned, it was said. At least one full day's session of court has been reassigned to November.

Five defendants and one witness who had been confined in Fulton tower pending their appearance before the United States grand jury at Gainesville left Atlanta Tuesday in the custody of Deputy Marshal W. F. Haney. The defendants are Fred O. Young, motor vehicle theft; Henry Lee Raushenberg, 14, and Charlie Anthony Tibbrell, 14, motor vehicle theft; W. R. Hart, motor vehicle theft, and Sterling Waite, prohibition, second offense. Clair Reece-way is the witness, who is held to testify in the case against Young.

Milton C. Work's Pointer On How To Play Bridge

Milton C. Work, the international bridge authority, will answer your auction bridge questions. A stamped self-addressed envelope must accompany each request for replies.

The pointer for today is: Great conservatism should be shown in opening the bidding fourth hand; but a hand should not be passed out when it furnishes a reasonable probability of game.

My answer slip reads: No. 3. South (Dealer) should bid one Spade.

No. 6. South one Spade; West should bid one No Trump.

No. 7. South one No Trump, West pass; North should bid two Spades.

No. 8. After three passes; East should bid one Spade.

My reasons in support of these declarations are: No. 3. With a five-card Major suit headed by Ace-Queen-Ten and strong side support, the Major obviously is the sound declaration.

No. 6. A close case; one No Trump, two Diamonds and a pass all would be defensible declarations. With two unbroken suits, North should bid one No Trump. With a score of 10, after three passes; East should bid one Spade.

Bridge answer slip of June 29: No. 9. South (Dealer) should bid one No. 10. South pass; West should bid one No. 11. South one Heart, West pass; North should bid one No. 12. With a score of 10, after three passes; East should bid one Spade.

MASONIC CLUB HOLDS FINAL MEETING TODAY

Election of officers will feature the closing meeting for the season of the Atlanta Masonic club at 12:30 o'clock today in the Peacock cafe after which meetings will be suspended until next fall.

Three-minute talks by Julian V. Boehm, on "It's a Beautiful World," Ford Clark, "A Test of Manhood," Jim Ingram, "If You Can't Say Something Good, Don't Say It," and Dr. Claude N. Hughes, "When You Get To Know a Fellow," and musical selections by Miss Minna Hecker, accompanied by Miss Olivia Allen, will constitute the program. Fred Coolidge, vice president, will preside in the absence of President N. R. H. Moor.

game-going declaration. A pass would be conservative, but too apt to give up game-going possibilities.

No. 7. With such great help for partner's No Trump, a No Trump game is probable, but two Spades eliminates all risk. It is a strength-shower and justifies South in rebidding the No Trump if the Spades do not fit.

No. 8. Fourth Hand conservatism, especially when weak and short in either Major suit, is advisable but should not be carried to an extreme; it is unwise to pass when a bid is apt to produce a game. With this holding a little strength in West's hand will score a game at Spades; opening the bidding seems more apt to produce game than to help the adversaries.

MARKET BULLETIN PAGE TO BE EDITED BY MRS. S. H. SHARP

Mrs. Norman Sharp announced on Tuesday that her duties in connection with the state bureau of markets, to which she has recently been appointed to do special work, will be the editing of a page each week in the market bulletin.

On this special page Mrs. Sharp will encourage diversified farming for the state and encourage the raising of the more expensive varieties of vegetables. She states that the farm interests of the state are overlooking wonderful opportunity by not going in more extensively for the purposes of vegetables to which the soil of Georgia is well suited. She will do this work in connection with her many duties at present with her interests in woman club work in the state.

M'Lendon Decides NOT TO ASK PROBE

No investigation by the legislature of the office of the secretary of state will be sought by Secretary S. G. M'Lendon, he announced Tuesday. The investigation was asked several weeks ago by the secretary in a statement published in newspapers. At that time he called on the legislature to investigate an alleged shortage of $8,389 in the accounts of the state motor vehicle department, disclosed by a report of the state auditor.

The alleged shortage was made public several weeks before the auditor made his report, by Charles A. Cook, cashier of the motor vehicle department. He announced the shortage after Charles Wilkes, a negro porter, had been arrested by a deputy sheriff, charged with taking $500 from the office safe. Mr. Cook said the shortage covered a period of a year and totaled more than $8,000. The grand jury investigated the case and exonerated Mr. Cook of connection with the shortage when it returned a no bill against him following its investigation.

Although he earlier called on the legislature to investigate his entire office from top to bottom, Secretary M'Lendon said that he now considers such an investigation needless, as it would simply be an investigation of the audit, which has been made public. Wilkes was indicted by the grand jury following his arrest and is now at liberty under bond pending trial.

VISITORS INVITED TO FORT C. M. T. C. FOR JULY FOURTH

The Fourth of July will be fittingly observed at the citizens' military training camp at Fort McPherson. It will be visitors' day, when relatives and friends of the candidates will be given a chance to see the boys engaged at their sports; to observe the drills, inspect the barracks and sit with the boys and eat at a real army mess.

At 8:30 a. m. a program of comedy events will be staged by the students, consisting of pie-eating contests, equipment races, wheelbarrow races and other novelties. This will be followed by a parade at 10 o'clock. The parade will be officered entirely by trainers, with music by a citizens' military training camp band.

After the parade the visitors will be escorted around the post. They will be given a brief resume of the duties and recreations of the boys and the purposes of these camps.

Mess will be served to the students and visitors shortly after 11 o'clock. The meal is early to allow the formation of the battalion which will march to Lakewood park, so as to arrive in time to witness the races.

GOVERNOR ASKS REQUISITION OF TWO

Requisition papers were forwarded Tuesday to the secretary of the navy by Governor L. G. Hardman for the return to Georgia of Claud James Joiner, alias James Durwood Hudson, who is charged with seduction in Laurens county.

Joiner, the requisition papers stated, is at present abroad the U. S. S. Concord.

Governor Hardman today honored requisition from the governor of Florida for the return to that state of Meyer Goldberg, charged with issuing a worthless check in Hillsborough county.

DANFORTH TELLS OF AIR PROGRESS AT LIONS CLUB

Lieutenant Colonel Charles H. Danforth, head of the air service of the fourth corps area, was the principal speaker at the weekly meeting of the Atlanta Lions club Tuesday at the Wineoff hotel. Colonel Danforth spoke on the development of aviation and its future prospects, advocating that Atlanta prepare to take advantage of that industry's growth.

A feature of the entertainment was the vocal selections of Miss Claudia Fulmer. Sam E. Levy, treasurer, presided in the absence of President Joseph B. Wolfe.

Mr. Thomas H. Brown Knows The Atlanta and Lowry!

His suggestion for an advertisement won the $50.00 prize this week in The Constitution's "Right-Ad Contest" because he had studied our bank, come into contact with its officers and employees and knew its desire and ability to serve the public.

Here is Mr. Brown's advertisement:

Humanizing the Bank—

MODERN fiction notwithstanding, the American bank is today a wholly human institution—organized, financed, officered and manned by men with a wealth of human experience and human understanding.

The practice of the officers of the Atlanta and Lowry National Bank of maintaining offices behind a marble rail instead of behind bolted doors is not a gesture. It is a cordial invitation to all who wish—an invitation to draw upon that experience and understanding to any extent.

It Pays to Know Your Banker!

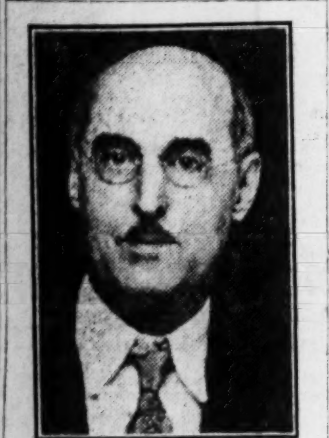

In this bank, the size of the individual's account or the extent of his business is not of primary interest to its officers. If you, for example, are a depositor or anticipate becoming one, the interested, humanized service of any official is yours to command.

"BY WHITNER CARY.
The tennis crown denoting the sovereignty of singles champion of this city slipped gently from the head of Jack Simpson, the 1926 title-holder. Tuesday afternoon in the city championship being played on the courts of the Atlanta Tennis Club. Like all well conducted decapitations there was a decapitator present. The executioner was none other than young Bryan Grant and the occasion of the execution one of the semi-final brackets of the tournament. Bryan accomplished the feat with neatness and dispatch by the score of 6-1, 6-1. While all this was going on Jack Mooney was staging an encore to his final match in Greenville against the late George W. Moore. The result of the match, the semi-final encounter by the score of 6-4, 6-4. ## Miss Dorothy Burk and Mr. Perry Wed at Lovely Church Ceremony

A beautiful wedding was that of Miss Dorothy Burk to Eddie Willis Perry, which took place Tuesday evening at St. John's church, Rev. R. A. Edmondson, officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated in palms and foliage plants interspersed with seven-branch candelabra and floor baskets of pink gladioli. The reserved pews were marked off with bouquets of flowers and satin ribbons.

Proceeding the ceremony Miss Emily Permalie played a beautiful program of organ music, including "Still as the Night," Carl Bohm; "Barcarolle," Offenbach; "Cantilene Nuptiale," Du Bois; "Prelude Act III," from "Lohengrin," Wagner. Mrs. Edmondson sang "Until," by Sanderson, and "O Perfect Love," by Burleigh. The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was used for the processional and Mendelssohn as the recessional. Schubert's Serenade was softly played during the ceremony.

As the first strains of the wedding march sounded the ushers entered in pairs down opposite aisles. They were Ernest Fuller, Cooper Inglett, Edwin Walkley and Horace Gurley.

The Bridesmaids.

Next came the bridesmaids in pairs. They were Miss Maynor Fluker, Mrs. Charles Perry, Miss Gertrude Russell and Miss Azilee Fry. Their bouffant frocks were fashioned alike of tulle and tulle in the rainbow shades. Miss Fluker, who was lovely in blue, carried silver-pink Columbia roses showered with yellow sweetpeas. Mrs. Perry, wearing orchid, carried Pernet roses showered with deep purple sweetpeas. Miss Fry wore pink and carried golden Ophelia roses and orchid sweetpeas. Miss Russell wore yellow, and her flowers were Madame Butterfly roses showered with blue sweetpeas.

Miss Virginia Haire was maid-of-honor. Her dress was fashioned like the bridesmaids' in green and silver. Her flowers were bronze roses showered with coral sweetpeas.

Little Mary Alma Evans, the dainty flower girl, was lovely in pink. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of garden flowers showered with tiny satin ribbons.

The Lovely Bride.

The beautiful bride entered with her father and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Charles Perry. She was radiant in her dress of white satin and rare old lace, an heirloom of the bride's family. A deep bouffant of the lace finished the bouffant skirt which was made period style. A bertha of the same lace applied with seed pearls finished the quaint dropped shoulder effect. Her misty tulle veil was held to her dark hair with a coronet of rose point lace and orange blossoms. Completing this toilette was an exquisite shower bouquet of Bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Burk entertained at an informal reception at their home on Morningside drive. The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and garden flowers. In the dining room the table was overlaid with a lace cover and held as central decoration a plateau of garden flowers. Silver candelsticks holding white tapers tied with tulle and flowers alternated with silver compots of decorated mimosa.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Perry left for an extensive motor trip through North and South Carolina. Mrs. Perry traveled in a two-piece model of dark blue suit, crepe worsted, with a close-fitting black felt hat. Mr. and Mrs. Perry will be at home after July 10 with the bride's parents.

Miss Seymour Weds Mr. Cutter At Quiet Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Claudine Seymour and Ralph Cutter, of this city, formerly of Boston, Mass., was solemnized Tuesday evening at the home of the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Daniel at 6 o'clock, with Dr. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church officiating. The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

Following the marriage service, Mr. Cutter and his bride left for a motor trip to Bryson City, N. C. On their return they will be at home at 383 Copenhill avenue.

The bride wore a two-piece costume fashioned of French blue crepe and her hat was a close fitting model of match. She wore a shoulder bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies.

wearing orchid, carried Pernet roses showered with deep purple sweetpeas. Miss Fry wore pink and carried golden Ophelia roses and orchid sweetpeas. Miss Russell wore yellow, and her flowers were Madame Butterfly roses showered with blue sweetpeas.

Miss Virginia Haire was maid-of-honor. Her dress was fashioned like the bridesmaids' in green and silver. Her flowers were bronze roses showered with coral sweetpeas.

Pass Through This Trying Period in Good Condition by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound learned through their own experience the merit of the dependable medicine are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends and neighbors.

"I had been in bad condition for three months. I could not do my work. One day I read what your medicine had done and just had a feeling that it would help me, so I sent and got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had only taken half a bottle when I got up and started to do my work. It gave me an appetite, and helped me wonderfully. I can not praise this medicine highly enough. I surely will advise all women and girls to take it, and they don't have to use force to look healthy. My two daughters are taking it now and one is also using the Sensitive Wash. I am willing to have you use this testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the medicine."—Mrs. HARVEY TUCKER, R. R. No. 9, Shelbyville, Indiana.

"I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the little books you give away and began to take the medicine. After the first few bottles I began to feel better and could eat better and had fewer headaches. I feel like a different person. At anytime that I don't feel good I take the Vegetable Compound again, as I always keep a bottle on hand. You may use this letter for every word is true. I will answer any letters sent to me."—Mrs. JACKIE BOLLEMAN, 611-11th St., Union City, N. J.

"Grow old along with me, The best is yet to be"

With her children grown up, the middle-aged woman finds time to do the things she never had time to do before—read the new books, see the new plays, enjoy her grandchildren, take an active part in church and civic affairs. Far from being pushed aside by the younger set, she finds a full, rich life of her own. That is, if her health is good.

Thousands of women of middle age, say they owe their vigor and health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Those who have will convince you that Squibb's Milk of Magnesia is more pleasant to take

MILK of Magnesia is frequently prescribed for women at a time when the thickness and disagreeable taste of the ordinary product make it very difficult to take.

One trial of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia will convince you that it is pleasant to take. A special Squibb process assures a product that is pure and smooth—very fluid—and free of all "earthy" taste.

Squibb's is unsurpassed in effectiveness. Your druggist or physician will tell you it is "the standard of quality." Always ask for it by name.

—Pianos From Phillips & Crew

BACK IN 1865, when Sherman's march was a vivid memory, when Godey's Lady's Book set the styles in crinolines, and horse-cars were not yet, ladies bought pianos from Phillips & Crew.

Their daughters, boasting leg-o'-mutton sleeves and the "Grecian bend," did likewise. And their Daughters, today, in scant georgette follow suit.

Styles have changed in three generations, but not the style of buying pianos from Phillips & Crew.

THERE'S MUCH IN A NAME

Particularly is this true of the name of Maier & Berkele, which is bound up with the family traditions of three generations of Atlantans who know good things and who cherish them for sentimental sake. Grandmother's best table silver came from Maier & Berkele, a gift to her from her mother and father at the time of her marriage. Certainly mother's flat silver all came from Maier & Berkele's. Grandmother saw to that. Dad's watch was a graduation gift to him from his father and it has made good the tacit guarantee of whatever goes out in a Maier & Berkele box. Silver cups, napkin rings, cuff buttons, baby pins, gifts of gold and silver and precious gems of all kinds that defy time, gifts suited to all occasions from the first birthday, to Christening, to graduation, to tokens of friendship, courtship, engagement, marriage, to various anniversaries even to the diamond wedding itself—all such gifts link the name of Maier & Berkele with forty years of family tradition.

MAKE YOUR DOLLARS PRODUCE MORE MILES

The motorist demanded more miles for his dollars. Again, Mr. F. A. Sieberling, pioneer, responded to their demand, giving them a tire with 25% more cotton, 20% more rubber, without increase in cost, which will give you more miles for your dollar. Now it is up to you. Let SEIBERLING ALL-TREAD TIRES produce your miles.

OUTCAST

By Elizabeth York Miller

SYNOPSIS.

A band of crooks stumbles on the fact that the wife of Sir Adrian Shale, who supposedly had died six months before in Italy, is alive. It is Mimi Winchell who makes the discovery in a small out of the way village in Italy. Mimi poses as a widow, but she is really the wife of Charles Hobson, leader of the crooks.

INSTALLMENT III. THE GHOST WALKS OFF.

Here there was no crowd—just three people in the cave-like refreshment room of an ancient Italian rock village.

There were the little tables with little chairs attending them, a roughly paved and sanded floor, a counter behind which a multitude of household necessities outlived a few bottles of wine, strings of dried onions hanging from the low ceiling, a disconsolate hen pecking at the sawdust—and beautiful Lady Shale seated at one of the little tables opposite a man who looked not unlike a pirate out of Treasure Island. Yet a handsome pirate, as Mimi was obliged to confess at the first sight of him.

The couple was in the midst of lunch, which consisted of bowls of steaming soup, black bread, cheese, and a bottle of pale yellow wine. Evidently they were on a walking tour. Balancing haversacks lay on the floor beside them. Lady Shale was dressed in a fashion affected by the wives of self-conscious artists. A gay bandanna handkerchief swathed her glorious head; she wore a cotton smock and string-soled canvas sandals.

The man was in keeping with her. He had no hat; his clothes looked like nothing on earth. In appearance he was more of a vagabond than either Uncle Charles or Beauty Bill. But he had flashing teeth, a tangled mass of black hair, and a smile that forgave him everything he might need to be forgiven.

Mimi did not hesitate. Here was the answer to her brooding of the last few days. One need not go to the length of calling it prayer. Here, certainly, was the answer.

If Mimi had hesitated for so much as the fraction of a moment, she would have been defeated. Lady Shale was of a mind to defend her. Lady Shale had no wish to be discovered alive and well; no wish to be found here in this primitive, almost savagely old mountain village in the company of a handsome, black-eyed pirate.

One tried, worried little wretch of a Mimi made, in fact, two discoveries at once, the second one being that Lady Shale, that magnificent, golden-haired woman who had quipped it over London and Grantwick and been made a present of the moon and stars besides—that Lady Shale had flown to this dark corner of her own choice, and that she was, by nature, herself a pirate.

Upon Mimi's entrance, of course, all three exchanged glances, but Beauty Shale was not quick as Mimi. Lady Shale might be a pirate at heart, but she had never before been obliged to live by her wits. Mimi had had considerable practice at that game.

Mimi advanced firmly, but with an air of shrinking, a manner which her small blonde and delicate personality helped to carry out to perfection. She seemed dismayed, but pleased. A quivering, smiling little lady of fashionable London who could scarcely believe that what her blue eyes told her was true.

"Why, it's Lady Shale! But—then you're not dead? It was all in the papers. That you'd died of Mediterranean fever and been buried in Allassio. You remember me, don't you?"

"Oh, yes," said Lady Shale. There was a touch of gray in her hair, but her voice; a faraway look in the gray eyes. "You were so kind in helping Mrs. Keel and me at the duchess's bazaar. I would not be ungrateful to remember you. But it would be equally kind if you failed to remember me. . . . Giorgio, shall we be going? Have you paid the bill?" She turned once again to Mimi before they left.

"I'm awfully sorry, Mrs. . . . I'm afraid I've forgotten your name. But I really am dead, you know. Dead as a door nail. And some day it may occur to you that only the dead are happy."

The pirate flashed Mimi a gleaming smile as the two of them passed out with their walking sticks and rucksacks.

"Only dead to London and Grantwick," he said. "It makes nothing, madame." The last sentence he spoke in French.

Mimi laughed softly to herself after their retreating backs.

So Grantwick meant nothing. It meant so little that Adrian Shale had managed in some incomprehensible way to proclaim his beloved wife dead. Still, with money, unlimited money, one can do pretty well anything. There was something behind this.

MRS. NISBET FREED

Bound of $5,000

Temporary bond in the sum of $5,000 was allowed Tuesday by Judge Virlyn B. Moore, of Fulton superior court, to Mrs. Grace Nisbet, who has been held under guard in a local hospital in connection with the death of her husband, C. D. Nisbet.

Judge Moore declared that the order was based on the serious physical condition of Mrs. Nisbet, and was not to be construed as affecting the merits of the case nor was it in any sense a determination as to whether the case against her was bailable on its merits.

The order provided that the bond shall hold good until the further order of the court and "may be revoked at any time the court sees fit, and the defendant re-arrested."

Hearing on the application for bond filed by Sam Hewitt, attorney for Mrs. Nisbet, was held Monday afternoon at which time Solicitor General John A. Boykin asked that he be given additional time to investigate the case. Attorney Hewitt pointed out that he would present several affidavits tomorrow to prove that Mrs. Nisbet had nothing to do with her husband's death.

After carefully weighing the evidence presented and reading the brief of evidence at the coroner's inquest, Judge Moore rendered the decision.

Physicians at the hospital Tuesday stated that Mrs. Nisbet was in a critical condition but expected that she would be ready to be taken home within the next few days.

GEORGIA DEAF BODY

CONVENE HERE

The Georgia Association of the Deaf, with 125 members attending, will hold its fourth biennial convention in Atlanta, June 29 and 30. The opening meeting will be held at the Grand park pavilion, it is announced by S. M. Freeman, of Atlanta, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Freeman will conduct a special service for the visitors at St. Mark's church on Sunday. Monday morning will be devoted to business sessions, the afternoon being given over to entertainment and recreation.

Officers of the Georgia state branch of the national association are: J. R. Hankerson, president, Atlanta; W. A. Williamson, vice president, Atlanta; W. T. Brown, vice president, Hapeville.

In 1923 a proposal was made by the national association to erect a national memorial hall to D. M. Gallaudet, the universal benefactor of the deaf. Georgia members are raising their own contribution and hope that the proposed hall will be erected when the full amount desired has been secured.

Visitors to the convention will be entertained in the homes of local members. There are about 40 members in Atlanta at present.

Among topics to be discussed at the convention will be "Ways and means to remove the present location of the school at Cave Springs to a more easily accessible point."

ATLANTA GIVEN

HONORARY DEGREES

BY TWO COLLEGES

The Rev. W. W. Alexander, of this city, director of the commission on interracial cooperation, has returned from Boston, where, at the recent commencement of Boston university, he was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of divinity. The degree was presented by Dr. Daniel L. Marsh, president of the university, who at the same time conferred the honorary degree on Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts; Chief Justice R. J. Pease, of the supreme court of New Hampshire; Dr. John G. Brown, president of Fitchburg university; Robert L. O'Brien, editor of The Boston Herald; and Clarence W. Barcon, editor of the Boston News Bureau.

Dr. Alexander's degree was conferred in recognition of his work of the past eight years as director of the commission on interracial cooperation. A few days previously he had been awarded the same degree by Berea college, of Berea, K.

Dr. Alexander is a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, and member of the Tennessee conference.

HAROLD HAMMOND

MAY STAND TRIAL

FOR KILLING BABY

Harold Hammond, under sentence of death in the electric chair on August 5 for the murder of Mrs. Lottie Bell Ingram, will stand trial tomorrow whether he will stand trial during the July term of Fulton superior court for the murder of Mrs. Ingram's infant son.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore will hold a hearing on a demand for trial of Hammond on the latter charge this afternoon, his attorneys having filed the demand Monday in an effort to dispose of the second indictment against him.

Solicitor General John A. Boykin and Hammond, that he intended to move vigorously in opposition to the move by Hammond's attorneys, declaring that the defendant was already under sentence of death and that a trial would only be wasting the time of the court.

Defense attorneys say that they have hopes of securing a new trial for their client on the indictment under which he was sentenced to hang, and they are to have the other indictment disposed of so that nothing will be in the way of a dismissal of their client if the judgment of the court in the first case is reversed.

The law provides that in the event a trial is demanded and granted that the trial must be held during the next term of court; if this were not done the case would be automatically dismissed, court attaches state.

NASH ANNOUNCES THREE NEW SERIES

Three entirely new series of cars, including 21 models on four different chassis lengths, were announced Tuesday by the Nash Motors company. The new series will be known as the advanced six, the special six and the standard six. Despite a wide array of costly improvements, these cars are also featuring new lower prices, reductions ranging as high as $100.

"A new radiator design, lower and more sweeping body lines and a brilliant array of new color combinations make these new models without question the most beautiful ever produced by Nash, and the cars fully justify reports which have been current for the past week that Nash would introduce an array of cars which would command nationwide praise," an official of the Nash company declared Tuesday.

"Important mechanical refinements and improvements are also announced at this time, keeping pace with the progress which has been made in increasing the beauty of the cars' appearance. Outstanding among these are the introduction of new springs of a secret alloy steel which is said to increase riding comfort an amazing degree.

The new body lines are lower and more sweeping than ever before and the wheels are smaller, giving an additional appearance of lowness to the cars, although interior roominess has not been sacrificed. Matching the beauty of line is the new array of color combinations which Nash has adopted for these cars. Many striking new harmonies are used, giving these cars a brilliancy of appearance which is unequalled in their fields.

Size of Motor Increased.
The size of the motor in the standard six has been increased giving this car a degree of performance ability which, according to Nash officials, is entirely new to this price field. The size of the crankshaft has also been made larger to achieve greater motor smoothness. The crankshaft will continue to be of the seven-bearing type which has made Nash smoothness famous.

The new springs of secret alloy steel which Nash now introduces will be used on the standard six as well as on the special six and the advanced six. Use of shock absorbers at the front as standard equipment is also announced.

The standard six motor is now insulated from the frame at all points of contact with rubber, providing a quicker operation and saving the motor from road shocks. Other important refinements are a new carburetor heat control valve on the instrument board, a new type of head lamp, a new four-blade fan, a new stop light switch, a heavier oil pump cover plate, new parking lights, new instrument panel indirectly lighted, new remote control door locks, a new light control on the steering wheel and new heater hardware of special Nash design.

New Lower Body Lines.
As far as the advanced six series is concerned, the most important change is addition of new lower body lines, new body colors and a deeper radiator. The clutch, flywheel and crankshaft are balanced as a unit on a highly efficient machine for increased smoothness in operation. Body quietness is increased by the use of a fender well consisting of a contoured piece of fabric-covered felt between the body and the fenders of the car. Springs are of the new secret process alloy steel type for increased riding comfort.

Other refinements are complete encasing of battery and tool boxes, preventing entry of dust or water; new friction pads on front brake support plates, preventing rattling; new radiator heat control valve; new heat indicator on the instrument panel; new reinforcement of the frame for rigidity; new heavier and longer parking brake lever; new nickel steering column; new improved horn and new type of foot accelerator.

Improvements in the special six series are very similar to those which have been made on the advanced six. The body lines are lower and more sweeping and the wheels are smaller. New alloy steel springs have been adopted. Other refinements, including balancing the clutch, flywheel, and crankshaft, the fender well, the nickel steering column and the new accelerator, are a part of all special six models.

LEGISLATOR'S WIFE INJURED IN CRASH
Griffin, Ga., June 28.—(AP)—Mrs. J. J. Flynn, wife of Judge Flynn, member of the legislature from Spalding county, was injured late yesterday when the automobile in which she was riding was wrecked by one said to have been driven by C. H. Beecham, Jr., of Atlanta.

Miss Frances Barnes, of Atlanta, and Miss Ruth Ware, of Asheville, N. C., who were returning from Atlanta with Mrs. Flynn, were slightly injured.

The accident occurred on the over-head bridge at Mountain View on the Atlanta-Griffin road. One of three or four other automobiles following the Flynn car attempted to pass it on the bridge. As it came abreast the first car, another automobile came from the opposite direction and swerved in front of the car driven by Miss Ware.

Judge Flynn was in an automobile that left Atlanta some 45 minutes after Mrs. Flynn's car and did not know of the accident until he reached home.

It is believed that Mrs. Flynn is not seriously injured, although she will be confined to her home for several days.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR WILLIAM S. LEE

Waycross, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Funeral services for William S. Lee, 44, who died at the home of his brother here Sunday after a short illness, will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Baptist church, 1500 N. W. 10th St. The deceased, a native of Anding county, had lived recently in Middleburg, Fla.; but had been in Waycross for several weeks prior to his death.

Mr. Lee's wife, the deceased, is survived by three brothers, L. L. and Levi S. Lee, of Waycross, and J. S. Lee, of Alma, also three sisters, Mrs. Christine Lee, Mrs. J. B. Cooksey, of Vero Beach, Fla., and Mrs. R. L. Lott, of Wildwood, Fla.

BREAD COST HERE LOWEST IN YEARS

As the result of recent action on the part of the Rogers Southern Grocery Stores, Inc., in putting the price of their 16-ounce Perfection loaf at 6 1/2 cents, bread now is retailing in Atlanta at a price unequalled since the war. The Perfection loaf reduced to the low level of 6 1/2 cents for the full pound is the same in quality as that manufactured under the same brand for many years by the Rogers organization.

It is baked in the big Rogers bakery on Whitehall street and delivered from the ovens direct to the 156 Rogers stores in the city, all excess costs in production and distribution being carefully eliminated. The Rogers ovens, located in the modern, thorough-equipped, two-story bakery, have never been cold during the past seven years, and officials of Rogers Southern Grocery Stores, Inc., state that their production now is extremely heavy and is increasing daily.

In addition to the 16-ounce Perfection loaf retailing at 6 1/2 cents, Rogers also recently began production and sale of its well-known Deluxe loaf, also a 16-ounce product. This loaf, perfected after weeks of scientific experiment work, retails for 8 1/2 cents and is regarded by Rogers officials as the "perfect loaf." It is said to be richer in nutriment than other bread, containing a higher proportion of milk and pure butter, and is made of 100 per cent hard wheat flour, noted for its body-building properties.

"Our two splendid 16-ounce loaves are the finest that can be baked," a Rogers official said Tuesday. "The 16-ounce loaf produces more slices than the average loaf, and the full-pound weight of Rogers loaves, added to their superior quality and steadily low prices, have brought immediate and heavy buying response from Atlanta housewives. The low prices on these loaves are good costs of Rogers policy to reduce food costs to Atlanta's absolute minimum, and this is a striking example of the result of our determination to do this."

MRS. BUCKNELL DIES; MOTHER OF ATLANTIAN
Mrs. William Bucknell, of Upper Saratoga Lake, N. Y., and Clearwater, Fla., died early Monday night at her summer home in the Adirondacks, according to information received here Tuesday by relatives.

Mrs. Bucknell was the mother of Dr. Howard Bucknell, prominent Atlantan, and was a frequent visitor to this city, where she was well known. At the time of her death, which came as she was nearing her eightieth birthday, Dr. Bucknell was visiting at the Adirondacks home. Mrs. Bucknell had been in poor health for some time.

Mrs. Bucknell was the former Miss Emma Ward, of Canaan, Pa., and her father was a noted missionary to India. A large portion of her life was spent in Philadelphia, where she married the late William Bucknell, one of Pennsylvania's leading citizens. It was William Bucknell who endowed Bucknell university, of Pennsylvania, and a number of hospitals in Philadelphia, in addition to bequeathing his famous art collection to the public.

Besides her son, Dr. Bucknell, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Hollister Judd, of New York; Mrs. Edith Wetherill, of Philadelphia; and Countess Teorini, New York; three granddaughters, Mrs. Dickson Potter, New York; Miss Edith Wetherill and Miss Anthe Wetherill, Philadelphia; and five grandsons, Howard Bucknell, Jr., and Harlan Bucknell, of Atlanta; Hollister Judd, Jr., and Howard Stearns, of New York; and Giles Wetherill, of Philadelphia.

The body will be taken to Philadelphia for funeral services and interment.

LAST RITES THURSDAY FOR YOUNG HOLLIDAY
Funeral services for James Holliday, Jr., 26, of 910 Myrtle street, N. E., who died Sunday night at a Chicago hotel, will be held Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock from the Sacred Heart church.

Young Holliday, the son of James Holliday, foreign advertising manager of The Constitution, was in the Illinois city on business for the paper. He suffered the attack at a late hour and died before medical aid could reach him. Although Mr. Holliday had previously experienced several attacks of acute indigestion, members of his family did not realize the seriousness of his condition.

Mr. Holliday was a native Atlantan and a graduate of Georgia Tech. Through his business ability and pleasant personality he had won both social and material advancement here. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Alpha fraternity and of the Sacred Heart church.

Grace Vanderbilt Marries WEDS NAMESAKE OF LATE SENATOR DAVIS With Policeman as Witness

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
New York, June 28.—Elopement and marriage in the Municipal building today of Grace Vanderbilt, one of the richest heiresses in America, and Henry Gassaway Davis III, young mining engineer, astonished members of New York's 400.

The former Miss Vanderbilt is the only daughter of Brigadier General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Armstrong Davis, of Washington, D. C., and grandson and namesake of the late Senator Davis, of West Virginia, former democratic Vice presidential candidate on the ticket with Alton B. Parker.

With the uncle of the groom, Colonel Henry Howland, Armistead and Policeman Patrick J. Kelly, as witnesses, the couple were married in the chapel at the Municipal building shortly after noon by Deputy City Clerk John J. McCormick.

The bride gave her age as 27; the bridegroom his as 25.

Not even the mother of the bride was aware of her intention. When apprised by a reporter that her daughter had been married, the former Grace Wilson, who was entering her limousine from the front of her home, was patently shocked.

"I know nothing about it," she said, and drove away.

The couple, accompanied by Colonel Armistead, appeared in the limousine a few minutes before noon. Miss Vanderbilt and her fiancé took a seat on a long bench between a negro couple and a pair of betrothed Caucasian sweethearts on the other, while Colonel Armistead made inquiries about the license.

Both were obviously nervous. Miss Columbus, Atlanta council No. 660, will escort the bride to her arrival tonight to the Holliday residence.

In addition to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Holliday, he is survived by two brothers, Edward R. and Joseph W. Holliday; two sisters, Caroline L. and Miss Catherine Holliday; and two aunts, Mrs. Marie Mahoney and Sister Mahoney, of the Ochs family, of Georgia; Mrs. C. H. Blount, of W. S. Ansley, F. E. Cozler, Louis Estey, C. A. Matthews, W. C. McLean, G. M. Grant, Charles D. McKinney, A. E. Almer, Dr. J. R. McCain, Thomas L. Cooper and W. J. Sayward.

The board of directors was increased from five members to the officers and members ex-officio, to 12 members and the officers as ex-officio members.

Mr. Green on his election to the presidency for a third time told the members that he appreciated the honor and with such cooperation in the future as had characterized his past administrations, he expected nothing but a very successful year ahead which would react to the benefit of the chamber and the city.

A committee was named to cooperate with the city to obtain a wider Church street. A committee also was named to see the city authorities regarding extension of the water supply system in the main streets of Decatur.

C. D. McKinney, chairman of the "See Georgia Week," told of the good results obtained from the efforts of the chamber in this line. He paid tribute to the laudable work of Leon O'Neil and F. E. Cozler in organizing the Atlanta-Decatur motorcade. Short talks were given by W. G. Deant, Robert Ramspeck and Dr. J. R. McCain.

EGGS OF ANCIENT VINTAGE CAUSE ARREST OF PAWL
Jacksonville, Fla., June 28.—(AP)—A new use has been found for eggs of ancient vintage.

City policemen today confiscated at an East Bay street restaurant a cleverly contrived egg case containing a few of the eggs and several quarts of liquor, the latter hidden under a sliding partition. Pawl, 35, proprietor, was released under $100 bond.
